Brian Redman is a survivor of the deadliest era of motor racing. Today he is one of the great gentlemen of vintage racing and has done much to preserve and present the cars and drivers of the "classic" era. This book is another contribution to that effort. The book is beautifully illustrated with many rarely-seen photos.

2016 review by Peter McFadyen. This is the long-awaited biography of one of Britain's best and most successful racing drivers and it has been worth the wait. Don't be put off

Brian Redman is a British racing driver who won the 12 Hours of Sebring twice. He also won the Targa Florio (in Sicily) and the American SCCA/USAC Formula 5000 Championship three years in a row, 1974-76. But his victories tell us a lot less than a successful contemporary, like Mario Andretti, sharing personal insights in the introduction to Brian Redman: Daring Drivers, Deadly Tracks:

Brian Redman is one of very few notable British racing drivers whose racing life has yet to be put on record in book form. Now that is about to be rectified. Packed with photographs, Redman's memoir is a vivid account of his varied racing exploits, with special focus on the period 1968-73 when he won major sports car races in Ford GT40s, Porsche 908s and 917s, and Ferrari 312PBs.
